"I like to be hands-on, become friends with all the clients," says Haniacek. "Some even invite me to their family functions. That's when I know I've done it right." It's this singular focus and friendly rapport that permeates Mancari and Associates' work in the D'Amico residence. And the result is a Chicagoland haven that blends the best of Old-World tranquility with modern luxury, a pastoral marvel with rich wine on its breath and burnt orange in its shadows. A place that's no longer a residence, but a home. ■
